THE FUNERAL OF COLONEL GOSS.

TOPERA, Kan., March 12.—The remains of the late Col. N. S. Goss, state ornithologist, arrived today from Neosho Falls via the Santa Fe at 10:30. They were accompanied by the following relatives: Captain and Mrs. B. F. Goss, of Peawaukee, Wis., C. W. Waterman and wife, Neosho Falls; W. P. McConnell and wife, Neosho Falls; W. P. McConnell and wife, Maukato, and W. McBrown, Fall River. They were met at the depot by the state officers, Chief Justice Horton, Associate Justice Johnson, Mayor R. L. Cofran and members of the city, and the police commissioners of the city council, the police commissioners of the city council, the police commissioners of the city and the pall bearers.

The remains were escorted to the capitol building by a platoon of metropolitan police in full uniform, attended by the pall bearers and followed by the relatives and state officers in carriages. The remains were taken directly to the senate chamber, where, they were placed in state in front of the president's desk. After touching services in the senate, the body was taken to the Topeka cemetery and laid to rest upon the little plot prepared years ago, heside the commanion whom he lost in the second Tuesday of next March. THE FUNERAL OF COLONEL GOSS.

services in the senate, the body was taken to the Topeka cemetery and laid to rest upon the little plot prepared years ago, beside the companion whom he lost in early manhood and whom he mourned to the very day of his death. The pall bearers were Judge W. A. Johnson, Judge Samuel A. Kingman, Hon. Samuel T. Howe, Hon. P. I. Bonebrake, Hon. James Smith. Col. A. S. Johnson, Hon. F. P. Baker and Maj. Wm. Sims. The funeral procession was a notable one.

Within the last few week-col.

Within the last few weeks the will of the deceased was so changed that the fund for the caring of his ornithological collection reverts to his nephew, Mr. Waterman, of Neosho. When Col. Goss gave the state the collection, he exacted a condition that the state should provide a suitable room for his own private use. This the state faithfully complied with. Soon after making the gift, Col. Goss, who was a wealthy man, made a will in which he bequeathed a large sum of money for the maintenance and increase of the collection. A little more than a year ago the maintenance and increase of the collection. A little more than a year ago Secretary of State Higgins gave an old soldier a lunch-stand privilege in the main hall of the state house. The old soldier set up his stand in close proximity to the ornithological room, and the crowds that daily visited the collection were always loaded with edibles. This offended Col. Goss, and he protested against the presence of the lunch-stand, but Mr. Higgins refused to yield, and the old soldier held possession. Col. Goss, who took great pride in the collection, regarded the act of Mr. Higgins as a lack of appreciation of the gift, and he at once had his friend. Railroad Commissioner Humphrey, practice a new will, omitting the bequest to the state. Had he not given his word that the ornithological collection should become the property of the state, this, too, would have been withdrawn.

Sure cure—Preston's Hed-ake.

Sure cure-Preston's Hed-Ake.

FAIR PRIEIVEGES. CHICAGO, Ill., March 12.—The exe utive committee of the world's fair direc ory today authorized the committee on ways day authorized the committee on ways and means to enter into and consummate all negoiations for the sale of fair privileges and concessions. The sale of miscellaneous goods in the fair grounds will not be permitted, except to importers, when the articles are such as may be obtained in any first-class house outside of the ground, and nothing may be vended which is at variance with the dignity of which is at variance with the dignity of which is at variance with the dignity of the fair.

No transferring or sub-letting of privileges will be permitted. Thirty days prior to closing contracts for grants the committee will advertise in the daily press of the country for proposals. Persons desiring to buy privileges should address the ways and means committee and obtain ways and means committee and obtain blanks to be provided for application.

Cures while you wait-Preston's "Hed-

A HESITATING MISS. PITTSBURG, Pa., March 12.—Miss Clare Mitchell, the belle of the village of Tur-Mitchell, the belle of the village of Turlick, Indiana county, mourns the loss of two lovers, because she could not choose between them. On Sunday she was to have married John B. Reed. Just before time for the ceremony, James Gibson drove up to the Mitchell residence and asked to see Clera just for a minute. She walked to the gate with him in her bridal robe, and then, to the astonishment of the company, followed him to his conveyance and they drove away. Reed insisted that the wedding feast should go on, at which he presided. Before the guests had dispersed the young woman returned and persed the young woman returned and astounded the company by declaring that she could not choose between Reed and

A MATRIMONIAL SPECULATION.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 12.—A most sensational affair has just come to light at the Montezuma hotel, Hot Springs. Six months ago a two-times millionaire of Chicago brought his wife and 16-year-old daughter to the Springs. The daughter was large and handsome, but somewhat weak-minded. On the 10th of February the daughter slipped away from the hotel and was united in marriage by a local justice of the peace to the hotel porter, a man named Hogg. The girl remained with her mother and nothing was known of the marriage until the father came to take the family home. Then Hogg but in an application and claimed his put in an application and claimed his bride, but offered, it is said, to compro-mise for $23,000. The girl said she prefer-red to go with her father rather than re-umes covered in law sheen were revealed. main with the man to whom she had thus far been united in name only. The Chicago family left on the morning train and Hogg followed in the afternoon.

Immediate, harmless-Preston's "Hed

A MONSTROSITY.

MACOMB, Ills., March 13 .- A remarkable curiosity made its appearance in the world here yesterday morning. A mare belong-ing to Asher Blouut gave birth to a colt about noon. The little animal was a per-fectly formed horse, with the exception of its head, which was as near like that of a man as it could be without being human. The neck is rather long and slender, the cerebrum is round and about the size of a grown man; the ears are delicately formed grown man; the ears are delicately formed, and in proportion to the size of the head; the mouth and nose, though in their proper place, are very much deformed, the two joining each other. The nose is like that of a horse, and the mouth is very wide. There are no eyes, and apparently no place for any. The little animal lived but a few minutes. It will probably be preserved in minutes. It will probably be preserved in alcohol and placed on exhibition.

FIRES. OMAHA, Neb., March 12.-The Bohn eash and door factory was destroyed by fire this evening. Loss, $150,000; insurance, AREANSAS CITY, Kan., March 12,-This evening at 9 o'clock the residence of A. A. Newman was totally destroyed by fire. The building, which was just approaching completion, cost $50,000 and was insured for $25,000.

BEECHAM'S PILLS cure billions and nerv-

THE MAFIA CARE.

NEW ORLEANS, March 12.-The Hen-NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—The Hennessy case was given to the jury tonight at 6:22. The state abandoned the case against Bastall and Cardola, and the judge also instructed the jury to acquit Charles Matrango, against whom the state has failed to make out a case. Owing to the length of the session, the judge advised the jury not to bring in any verdict tonight and adjourned court until morning.

WRECKS.

LONDON, March 12.—A foreign steam-hip, the name of which is not known, was recked off Start point during the blizzard. All the crew and passengers were drowned. The British ship Dryad was wrecked near the same place and her crew of twenty-four men were drowned. It is already known that seventy lives were lost off the coast during the storm. The loss of farm stock is enormous.

INDIANS INDICTED.

DEADWOOD, S. D., March 12.—The United States grand jury has found indictments against the Sioux Indians—Plenty Horse, for the murder of Lieut, Casey during the late uprising, and one againt Leaves-His-Woman, for the murder of Isaac Miller, a ranchess.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

BALTIMORE, March 12.—Gen, Isaac B. Moore was found dead today in his hotel with a frightful looking pistol shot wound in his head. The general had been feeling unwell for a few days, and he is supposed to have killed himself in a fit of despondency. A Grand Army of the Republic badge was pinned to his coat, and the Grand Army of the Republic men took charge of the body.

TORN BY DOGS. READING, Pa., March 12.—At Fredensburg, this county, this morning "Birdie" Miller, a schoolgirl, was attacked by a bulldog and a bloodhound, and bitten so

My one true friend! I sit and watch the tide That, with life's restless, everchanging swee Bears you away, resistless, from my side, While I, in silent sorrow, sit and weep.

And yet, why should I mourn? New joys for you May spring from out this rending of old ties;
And what am I, that I should strive, snew.
To bind the tollsome fetters o'er your eyes?

Yes, go! And may where'er you pitch your tent
Hold rest and peace, and leisure for your life
To ripen, 'neath the sun of sweet content,
Into rich fullness, free from care and strife,

If, in our weary voyage o'er life's sea,
We meet perchance, and hail a friendly bark
With cheery call, and in their company Drift for a space, we dread anew the dark And lonely track which stretches far ahead.

id rolling waves and madly shricking winds, That drive us, hurrying, on the breakers dread, Which, inrking, wait their prey with treacherous minds.

And yet we e'en must part. Each go our way, Whether to joy or sorrow, who can tell? Yet hope shall shed its bright and silvery ray Athwart the gloom, that all may yet be well.

In time, perhaps, our lives once more may In quiet joy again, as in the past, With richer fuliness; then God speed, my friend,
My choicest blessings crown you to the last,
—Marah Rocke in Housekeepers' Weekly.

A young lawyer who has been practicing at the bar for maybe three or four years re-ceived one present which he did not appreciate. It was a nice enough present, butwell, the whole story had better be told.

One morning a messenger boy brought day she relented and promised to marry Reed, but again changed her mind before the knot could be tied. Both Reed and release the knot could be tied. Both Reed and release the knot could be tied. to the young attorney's house a package where his wife sat at breakfast, and she of Gibson declare that they will not marry course started up full of excitement and curiosity. In fact it was she who took the bread knife and cut the string. Her hands removed the brown paper and uncovered the inner skin of white paper sealed with red wax. A card—a plain visiting card—lay there. The young lawyer saw it, and, heaven preserve us! blushed. The case he had conducted laboriously and expensively to defeat.

"What does he mean by sending me a present?" he asked. "The last time he was in my office I felt inclined to pitch him out of the window."

Perhaps he wants to make up, dear," hairpin. In a few seconds a couple of vol-umes covered in law sheep were revealed. The attorney took one of the books up and read the title, "Blackstone's Commentaries, vol. I.," the other book was volume II. "What in thunder does he mean by sending me this!" he asked flercely,

"I am sure I don't know, dear," said she

There was an uncomfortable silence for several minutes. Then the attorney said. with considerably more emphasis than can be reproduced in words: "Now I know what that fool meant by saying when he left me that he would teach me the rudimoney to do it. I thought he was going to sue me."-Pittsburg Dispatch.

Trousers Made by Beginners "I know hundreds of young men in London who if they were told that their trousers were made by beginners would go old. He has been ten years in the senate, mad?" Such were the portentous words and can without doubt remain here as long of the master of the rolls, who, with Sir James Hannen and Lord Justice Fry, was tends retiring at the end of his present occupied in deciding whether a Swedish sartorial artist named Bolander was entitled to a new trial in respect of an alleged libel reflecting on his professional capacity as a cutter of breast pockets. Bolander, who was non-suited, had been described in a trade journal as a "drum-mer," which term the indignant Scandi-at all, and there is a sort of disgusted exnavian declared meant a novice capable only of evolving "breeks." Hence the ju-

In the United States "drummer" is the equivalent of bagman. Here, from an artistic, it may be a vulgar point of view, it is synonymous with "bagsman." It is to be hoped Lord Esher's young men may be saved from premature incarceration for lunacy by the absolute knowledge that their lower limbs are clad only in garments cut by the strictly scientific professors

Imitated the Queen

Juliet ask Romeo, "What's in a name?" apparently deeming one designation as good as another in a warm climate, but here are Juliets in dear old England who have their own opinion on the subject. At a provincial exhibition a sumptuously bound visitors' book was placed in the lobby, and the great show was opened by her majesty, who was accompanied by the Princess Heury of Battenburg. The local mayor, a highly respected tradesman (gas-fitter and plumber, I believe), accompanied by his wife, was of the royal party. As usual the queen placed her name in the visitors' book as "Victoria," the princess following with "Beatrice," then came the mayor's wife, who, seeing what had gone before, wrote with a bold, steady hand HANDSOME SENATORS.

STATESMEN WHO ARE SPECIMENS OF MANLY BEAUTY.

There Are More Good Looking Men in the Upper Than in the Lower House, and Here Are Portraits of Some of

[Special Correspondence.]
WASHINGTON, March 2.—There are many more handsome men in the senate than in the house of representatives in proportion to the whole number. Though there are only eighty-eight senators, it is easy to pick out ten or a dozen of them who are the possessors of so much personal comeliness as to be worthy of note for that quality alone, to say nothing of their wisdom, eloquence or wit. Of the ten handsomest senators Mr. Hiscock is easily the premier.

There are few finer looking men in the world than Hiscock. He is a giant Apollo. His height is about six feet one inch, and his weight 225. He has a majestic figure, and a face which would attract attention anywhere in the world. His curling lip, his large, kinelike eyes, soft and deep hair his classical nose and brow, attract

In the senate chamber Mr. Hiscock is constantly in the focus of numberless opera glasses, lorgnons, lorgnettes, spectacles, eyegiasses, monocles. He does not seem to know that he is the center of so much interest. For a man of such great personal beauty and so much ability as a statesman Mr. Hiscock is agreeably mod-He is 54 years old, has a family, and has been in congress a dozen years. Mr. Hiscock wears a Prince Albert or "statesman's coat," and large, flowing, checked neckties. His hair is dapple gray.

A few years ago Senator Butler, of South Carolina, was considered the handsomest man in the upper branch of congress. He is still a very handsome man, though age is finally beginning to have its effect upon him. Mr. Butler is only a few months older than Mr. Hiscock, but he does not carry his years so well. He has a soldierly figure, and about the finest manners in the senate chamber. No man more polite, more courtly, more graceful than he, and when he moves about the floor of the senate chamber there are who remember that the handsome, dignified senator lost his right leg at the battle of Brandy Station in 1863. Senator Butler has a small foot, a fresh complexion, "an eagle eye." He wears good clothes, neat, black neckties, and but one piece of jewelry—a death's head scarf pin with a sapphire in its skull. Mr. Butler has been in the senate since 1877, and is the third or fourth member of his family to sit in this body.

EUSTIS. BUTLER HAWLEY.

Many of the ladies who sit in the gallerles at the north end of the big Capitol think Mr. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, about the handsomest man in the senate. A large part of Mr. Aldrich's reputation for good looks springs, without doubt, from his popularity as a man and senator. Every one likes him, and in him we find one of those rare combinations of brains and heart which can be positive and energetic and stubborn, too, without incurring enmity.

Senator Aldrich's popularity is by no means due to any weakness or softness of his character, for he is anything but that A plain, blunt, active man, who shirks no responsibility or task, he still has a happy way of making friends of all with whom he comes in contact. His smile is bewitching, his handshake magnetic. It is the good nature, the kin-liness expressed in ments of law if he had to spend good his face which make his features handsome. Senator Aldrich wears a double breasted short cont buttoned in front, which makes him look all the more like a business man. He is tall, of graceful manners, his bair is thin and gray, and he is not yet 50 years as he likes, though it is rumored he in term in order to go into some money making business. There are radically different opinions as to whether or not Senator Wolcott is entitled to be put down as a handsome man. The majority decides affirmatively. He is pression in the lower part of his face, but his features are good, the shape of his head really pretty; he has plenty of hair of a kind which becomes him-and it is always neatly parted straight down the middle— he dresses faultlessly, and is good natured, dashing, popular, full of animal spirits, eloquent, heterodox, reckless.

Friend and foe alike say he is one of "the coming men" of the senate chamber-which means that he is destined to take a seat on the front bench before he dies—one of the leaders and autocrats of the ancient body, one of the select but limited circle who dare move an executive session or make suggestions sotto voce to the presiding officer. He surely will reach this distino tion if the good will of the women amounts to anything. Senator Wolcott is 42, not very rich, recently married, and would spend his salary if it amounted to $100,000 per year. A solid, English looking senatorial beau ty is Mr. Dixon, of Rhode Island. He and his colleague, Mr. Aldrich, are about as unlike as two men could well be. Aldrich is fair and somewhat spare: Dixen swarthy and of a stocky figure. The senior senator's bair and beard are almost white; the junior senator's burutious tresses, thick mustache and carefully groomed side bars are as black as jet. If there is any slmb "Jane." The official who had charge of the book has not been seen since. He is believed to have exploded in an ante-room. Island, little though she be, comes nobly to the front when beauty is the theme—it is in their good nature, their affability, approachability, popularity.

Senster Dixon looks like the handsomest

Senator Dixon looks like the handsomest coachman you ever saw in the West End of London town, but he is American to the core, and comes from a family in whose veins flows the bluish blood of Yankeedom. He is only 43, married, rich, likes big blue lovers' knot neckties, and is properly proud of the waviness of his inky hair and of the infallible and unchangeable correctness of the parting line therein.

One of the big, handsome fellows of congress is Senator Eustis, of Louisians, a man of large frame, tall, broad, huge in every way, big feet and hands, giant head and expansive open countenance. His nose and expansive open countenance. His nose is enormous, his eyes immense and full of expression, and when he laughs, as he often does right merrily, a large mouth is exposed to view. Those who know him well say his heart is proportionately larger than any other member. Many strangers ask his name, and not a few of them buy his portrait before leaving the Capitol as that of the handsomest giant they have seen within its walls. Senator Eustis retires to private life in forty-eight hours.

Four exceedingly handsome men of ma-ture age and liberal hirsute adorument are found in Senators Dolph, Berry, Stock-bridge and Hawley. The last named was, bridge and Hawley. The last named was, indeed, but a few years ago one of the very handsomest men of congress. His regular features, soldierly figure, liquid brown eyes, Napoleonic beard and mustachios have ere this attracted the attention of thousands of pairs of admiring eyes, and will attract many more before their glories are faded. Gen. Hawley is growing old, of course. He has been nearly twenty years in congress, was a gallant soldier throughout the war and a good editor four years before the war broke out.

WOLCOTT.

Senator Hawley is generally looked upon as one of the young and vigorous men of the house of lords, whereas his colleague, Mr. Platt, is quite as generally regarded as an old man; yet Gen. Hawley is the senior senator, so far as age is concerned. The handsome senator from Connecticut was married a couple of years ago, and is now the fond papa of a yearling angel. Senator Hawley was born in 1836, first came to congress in 1872, and is likely to remain here as long as he lives.

Senator Delph, of Oregon, is considered the finest looking man of the patriarch order in the senate. He is ten years younger than Gen. Hawley, and therefore is not old enough to join the patriarch class. Senator Dolph is tall, graceful, neat, and, as many of his enthusiastic admirers in the gallery say, "the sweetest old man with the softest eyes" that ever was.

Senator Stockbridge looks like an English baron, almost like the last of the barons. He is grizzled, severe, apparently the concentrated essence of senatorial dignity, exclusiveness and wisdom. Yet when one comes to know him he is found to be as mild as one of the ewes on his famous Michigan stock farm, and a man who would much rather talk horse than politics. He has the true senatorial figureround, solid, substantial, well built up in front-and he carries it in the true senatorial way, with his nose uplifted, his long coat buttoned from chin to knee. But for all this he is a handsome and a likable

A senator much admired is Mr. Berry of Arkansas. He is like the "dark, hand some man" of whose coming gypsy fort une tellers are always prating to ser

STOCKBRIDGE.

DOLPH. girls and other foolish creatures. Dark skinned, sharp eyed, bearded, abundance of hair always neatly arranged, a well poised head, the look of a man of daunt less courage and indomitable will. Sens-tor Berry, despite the loss of one of his legs in battle, is not by any means least, though he chances to be last, in the list of senatorial beauties. ROBERT GRAVES.

A Queer Error. Mrs. Kate Upson Clark, at a recent luncheon of the Brooklyn club, quoted,

"Zeus takes those who attempt too much."
It was reported "The deuce takes those who attempt too much." Mrs. Clark probably wishes it would in the case of the reporter of her speech.

Millions of money are no compensation for frail physical and mental powers. The ability to enjoy life, which health alone can give, is a jewel more precious than pearls and rubles.

Her Heart's Dictates. Emeline-Mamma, I think young Mr. Percy is coning to-night to ask me to marry him. Mamma-Well, my child, Mr. Perc seems to be a very nice young man, and I hope you will act solely as your heart dic-

Emeline-You may be assured of that I'm bound that that detestable Jenkins girl shall not catch him. - New York Led-

An Appropriate Name.

Billy Emerson backed a horse called Regulator in New Orleans the other day. So did a darky who was standing by his side. When Regulator came in last the darky remarked to Emerson, in extreme diagust, that he "didn't see why they named dat hoss Regulator." "I suppose it's because the other horses go by him." was Emerson's witty rejoinder.—St. Louis Globs. Physically 1988. Globe-Democrat.

A Regular Nimrod.

Hushand-I am going out bunting to-morrow. I feel almost sure that I will or ng home a rabbit.

Wife-Habbits are so cheap now in the market that I think you might bring home a couple. - Texas Siftings

Whether on pleasure bent or business, should take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectually on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists.

They are still telling stories in San Francisco of the late lamested Kalakana, and one credits him with being an accomplished linguist. He had more than a fair plished linguist. He had more than a fair knowledge of Greek and Latin, and also had a speaking acquaintance with four modern languages. He knew enough He-brew to read the original text of the Old Testament, and was always interested in Biblical studies.

Too Willing. Young Wife—John, mother says she rants to be cremated.
Young Husband—Tell her if she'll put on r things I'll take herdown this morning.

Prepare for spring by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the best spring medicine. A Terrible Conjunction.

A "but" soon comes to modify a pretty picture. It is a terrible word, this innocent little conjunction! Think how much annoyance and grief it ushers in to us in an average year. "The market opened well; but—" "Baby is certainly better than she was yesterday; but still"— "No, sir, your hair is not going gray, that I can see, but it is thinning very fast." "I do love you very much, and always have loved you, but I love some one else better." And so on. I wonder we mortals have not combined to put a ban upon the wretched little monosyllable. Perhaps it is saved by our imagination. We know that it is a nuisance and a terror to us, but yet there may be a background of new light to the cloud which it suddenly brings for the oblitera-tion of our present happiness.—All the Year

Bradycrotine cured headaches for C. F. Milburn, president Milburn Wagon Co., Toledo, O.

Lady—Well, good-by, Bridget. As you are causing me so much inconvenience by leaving me without notice you cannot expect me to give you a reference.

Bridget-Riferince, is it? Howly mither o' Moses! Phat good wud a riferince from yez do me at all, at all? Sure I've towld ivery wan in the place there's not a worrud o' truth in annythin' ye say.—Demorest's

Brief History of a Day. "How do you like living in the country?"

"First rate." "Are the trains run on time?" "Oh, yes. I generally get into town in time to take a late train back."—Harper's

Why suffer? Preston's "Hed-Ake" will Wittily Acknowledged A laughable little story is told of a wom-an on the witness stand in a French court.

She was asked her age, and answered that she was 30 years old. "But," said the magistrate, "did you not tell me you were 30 when you appeared before me two years ago?"

"I think it very likely," she replied, smilingly acknowledging her falsehood, and not at all abashed. "I am not one of these years and the same of the same o those women who say one thing today and another thing to-morrow."-Youth's Com-

Demonstrated. Brown-Are you sure this is good sticking mucilage? Stationer—You bet, Brown-Ever use it? Stationer-No, but a bottle once broke in my pocket.-Harper's Bazar Preston's "Hed-Ake" is specific for head After buttering the tins for layer cake, give them a good sprinkling of flour. This will prevent the cake from sticking to the tins, and a little less flour will be required in the making of the cake.

years since parliament was first distinctly asked to grant to women the right to take part in the election of members of the louse of commons. An enterprising young dressmaker in New York pays the rent of her establishment by storing furs, wraps and costly dresses for her customers during the sum

It cures headache only - Preston's "H e

A Useful Trunk. A clever little housekeeper told me the other day that she has a large trunk in the garret marked "Things I do not want." When she comes across anything she thinks good for nothing, instead of throwing it away she consigns it to this trunk. And what then, do you think? She says, further, that when she wants anything she doesn't have she goes to this trunk and is

Would Stay with Her. Cora Bellows-I believe you would be true to a wife. Jake Jimpson (delightedly)-Oh, do you Cora (yawning)-Yes. You would never leave her.-New York Herald.

If fails money refunded; Preston's 'Hed-Ake."

Clara-Why did you refuse Mr. Hard. MISCELLANEOUS. Maud-I couldn't be happy with such a man as that. He is too intensely practical.

He has no faith. "No. He doesn't believe in anything. Why, he doesn't even believe in dreams."-Good News.

Careful.

Chappie-Dear girl, why will you keep me constantly on the rack? Jenny-I don't want to get you separated from your hat. -Harper's Bazar.

Knew How Himself.

Foley-W'y, hello; you out o' jail, Petfe! How d'ye git out; yer lawyer file objec-Petie-Naw; I done th' filin' |- New York McCorkie-Did Wiaebiddle die a natural McCrackie-How should I know? I neve saw him die before.-Judge.

Immediate relief by using Preston's

He Told the Truth. President Board of Police Commissioners—We are sorry to say, O'Hookahan, that you are discharged from the force.
O'Hoolahan-An' for what cause, yer

President-A jewelry store was hurgiarized in your district last night. Did you meet any one on your best last night? O'Hoolshan-Yis, your honor. I met a man an' he said, said he, he was going to open a jewelry sture.

President—He did open a jewelry store and stole $5,600 worth of goods.

O'Hoolahan-The man may have been a thate, but he was no liar -Jeweler's Co 3.85

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE WICHITA EAGLE

Lithographers, Publishers, Printers, Stationers, Binders, and Blank Book Makers,

JOB PRINTING.

One of the most complete Job Printing Offices in the State. Letter Heads, Bill Heads, Cards, Catalogues, Price Lists, Premium Lists, Stock Certificates, Checks, Drafts, Book Printing, etc. News and Job Printing of all kinds.

ITHOGRAPHING.
All branches of Lithographing, Bonds, Checks, Drafts, Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Cards, etc. We have first-class designers and engravers.

ENGRAVING.
Wedding Invitations and Announcement Cards,
Luncheon Cards, Calling Cards, etc.

BLANK BOOKS.
Blank Books of all kinds made to order, Bank, City. County, and commercial work a specialty. Sols agents for Kansas, Oklahoma and the Indian Territory for Bronson's Patent Automatic Level Joint Binding. Endorsed by book-keepers, bankers and county officers. Nothing made equal to it for strength and flat opening. Will open at any page, and lie perfectly flat when opened at any part of the book, permitting writing across both pages as easily as one. It is the only book that will open out perfectly flat from the first page to the last, thus enabling one to write into the fold as easily as at any part of the page. Send for circular.

BINDING.

Magazine, Law Book and Pamphlet binding of all kinds, rebinding, etc. Blank Department.

> All kinds of Legal Blanks for city, county and township officers, Deeds, Mortgages, Abstracts, Receipt and Note Books, Real Estate and Rental Agency Books and Blanks, Attorney's Legal Blanks, etc.

County Officers City Officers Books and Blanks

Books and Blanks. Bank and Corporation

Lithographing, printing and bookmaking. Abstracts. Complete outfit furnished for abstracters, abstract blanks, take-off books, tracers, and all kinds of blanks used by abstracters.

Township Officers'

Of every kind as used by lawyers, real estate agents, county, city and township officers-Justice of the peace books and blanks.

For Township Officers. we have a complete line of blanks and books such as are used by township officers.

Seals for Notaries Public, corporations, stock companies, lodges, etc. Orders filled promptly. Also stock certificates for corporations and stock companies, either printed on lithographed in elegant designs.

Attorney's Pocket Dockets.

The Lawyers' "Vade Mecum" can be used in any State and in any court. The most complete and convenient pocket docket ever published, with two indexes an aiphabetical index and a diary index; shows at a clarket but what date a lawyer has convenient what date a lawyer has a lawy glance just what date a lawyer has a case in court; keeps a complete record of the case. Handsomely bound in flexible back, a convenient size to carry in the pocket. Endorsed by attorneys everywhere. The following strong endorsement from Captain Sohn H. Ash, ex-Judge of the 5th Jadicial District State of Indiana. He writes as follows:

State of Indiana. He writes as follows:

It is the most complete and concise work of the port 1 have ever met with I cannot see how the presentation practicing lawyer can de without it. It should be entitled The Lawyer's Vade Mecum."

Traily and sincerely yours.

Price of docket $1.00. By mail postpaid to any address upon receipt of $1.07. Address.

R. P. MURDOCK, THE WICHITA EAGLE,
Business Manager. Wichita, Kansas.

MIMEOGRAPH.

3000 COPIES PROM ONE ORIGINAL LETTERS 1500 COPIES CAN BE TAKEN 80,000 USERS. The EAGLE is agent for the mis of the above machine, extra supplies, etc.

Address R. P. MURDOCK, We have a large number of appropriate cuts for use in Premium Lists—can get them out on shorter notice than any other firm. For school catalogues we have neat type faces for that especial work. Constitutions and By-Laws for Lodges, Building & Loan Associations, etc.

School Records, Etc.

We desire to call the attention of county superintentendents, school district officers and teachers to our line of school publications as given below. Our school records and books are now being used exclusively in quite a number of countles, and are superior to any in the market: Classification Term Record, Record of the country School Panels. in the market: Classification Term Record, Record of Apportionment of State and County School Funds, Buperintendent's Record of School Visits, (Pocket size), Record of Teachers' Ability, (Pocket Size), Record of Teachers' Ability, (Pocket Size), Record of Official Acts, Annual Financial Reports, Annual Statistical Reports, School District Clerk's Record, School District Treasurer's Warrant Register, School District Teasurer's Warrant Register, School District Boundaries, Record Teachers Employed, Receipts, Tuition Normal Institute, Receipts, Teacher's Examination, Register Normal Institute, Orders on Treasurer, Orders on Normal Institute Fund Orders for Apportionment State School Fund, Orders on Fund from Sale of School Land, Monthly Report School District, Promotion Cards District School, Diplomas District Schools, Pupils Monthly Report

Loan and Investment Companies. Books and blanka. Our Loan Register is now in use by loan companies generally. The Daily Eagle.

Eight pages—Contains the day and night associated press dispatches in full, and the latest market reports. Sample copy free.

The Weekly Eagle.

Eight pages—Contains more state and general news and eastern dispatches than any weekly paper in the Southwest. The latest market reports up to the hour of going to press. Sample copy free.

Estimates promptly surnished upon work of any kind. Address.

R. P. MURDOCK, Business Manager.

111 E Douglas Ave., Wichita, Kansas.